EDULAUNCH

From Campus to Career

Organisational Profile and Brief

EDULAUNCH
From Campus to Career

PROJECT BRIEF

Organisation and Brand Profile

Overview

EduLaunch is a fictional student career-development and employability initiative created for use across multidisciplinary academic projects. It provides a consistent business context that students can draw on when working with content management systems, web technologies, JSON, PHP, databases, user interfaces and related subjects.

The information in this brief may be adapted to suit the scope of an individual project, provided the central purpose and identity of EduLaunch remain consistent.

Introduction

EduLaunch helps students move confidently from education into the world of work. The initiative brings together career guidance, employability resources, internship and graduate-opportunity information, workplace-readiness activities, campus career support and employer engagement.

EduLaunch recognises that many students complete their studies with academic knowledge but limited experience in preparing professional applications, identifying suitable opportunities, communicating with employers or navigating recruitment processes. It responds by offering practical guidance, structured support and access to relevant opportunities throughout the student journey.

Core message

Every student deserves the knowledge, confidence and opportunity to launch a meaningful career.

Mission and Vision

Mission

To prepare students for the world of work by providing accessible career guidance, professional-development resources, workplace-readiness support and connections to meaningful opportunities.

Vision

To become a trusted career-development ecosystem that connects education with employment and enables students from different backgrounds to participate meaningfully in the economy.

Company Overview

EduLaunch operates as a career-readiness and employability support initiative serving students, recent graduates, educational institutions and employer partners. Services may be delivered through campus career centres, consultations, workshops, events, online resources, opportunity notices, peer support and employer engagement.

EduLaunch is not an employment agency and does not guarantee placement. Its purpose is to prepare, guide and connect students while encouraging them to take responsibility for their own career development.

Problem Statement and Opportunity

Students often struggle to understand career pathways, prepare professional documents, find legitimate opportunities, build workplace confidence and connect their academic learning to employer expectations. Career information may also be distributed across several disconnected channels, making it difficult to locate reliable and current support.

EduLaunch creates an opportunity to centralise career information and support within one recognisable initiative. By connecting students, advisers, employers, alumni and educational institutions, it can improve access to guidance, promote opportunities, strengthen student applications and support the transition from study to work.

Values and Brand Personality

Value	Meaning
Empowerment	Equip students with knowledge and tools rather than making decisions on their behalf.
Accessibility	Provide inclusive, understandable and easy-to-find career support.
Integrity	Communicate opportunities and guidance honestly and responsibly.
Growth	Treat career development as an ongoing process of learning and improvement.
Confidence	Help students recognise and communicate their abilities professionally.

Collaboration	Build strong relationships between students, institutions, employers and communities.

EduLaunch communicates like an experienced career mentor: professional, encouraging, practical, honest and student-centred. The brand is aspirational without making unrealistic promises.

Services and Key Offerings

Service	Supporting information
Career guidance	Exploring career pathways and connecting qualifications to possible occupations.
CV and cover-letter support	Preparing clear, relevant and professional application documents.
Interview preparation	Developing communication skills, confidence and appropriate preparation.
Internship and graduate support	Finding, evaluating and applying for workplace opportunities.
Professional profile support	Creating effective LinkedIn profiles, portfolios and digital professional identities.
Workplace-readiness training	Developing teamwork, communication, time management and workplace conduct.
Entrepreneurship guidance	Introducing students to self-employment, freelancing and small-business opportunities.
Employer engagement	Connecting students with employers through talks, events and recruitment activities.

Strategic Objectives

- Help students understand career pathways linked to their qualifications.
- Improve the quality of professional applications and online profiles.
- Develop interview, communication and workplace-readiness skills.
- Connect students with internships, graduate programmes and entry-level opportunities.
- Provide reliable career information through accessible channels.
- Strengthen partnerships between students, institutions, alumni and employers.
- Encourage students to take ownership of their professional development.

Market and Target Users

EduLaunch primarily serves university and college students who need practical guidance and access to career opportunities. It may also support recent graduates and student entrepreneurs. Secondary users include employers, career advisers, academic staff, alumni, institutional managers and industry partners.

Audience	Typical needs or role
Current students	Career information, skills development, internships and consultation support.
Final-year students	Graduate opportunities, application guidance and workplace-transition support.
Recent graduates	Entry-level opportunities, networking and continued career guidance.
Student entrepreneurs	Basic enterprise guidance, professional branding and networking.
Employers	Opportunity promotion, campus engagement and access to prepared candidates.

Career advisers and academic staff	Resources, referrals and coordinated student support.

Supporting Information

The following categories may be used as realistic sample information where an assessment requires content, records, forms, lists, reports or data. They are examples only and may be expanded or reduced.

Opportunity categories

- Internships
- Graduate programmes
- Work-integrated learning
- Entry-level employment
- Part-time or vacation work
- Learnerships and bursaries
- Volunteering and job shadowing
- Entrepreneurship programmes
- Career events and workshops

Common activity types

- Career fairs
- CV-writing workshops
- Interview-practice sessions
- Employer presentations
- Alumni career talks
- LinkedIn and portfolio workshops
- Professional networking events

Brand Identity and Guidelines

The EduLaunch identity should communicate trust, momentum, growth and opportunity. Visual material should be modern, clear and suitable for a diverse student audience.

Tagline

Primary tagline

From Campus to Career

Colour palette

Colour	Hex	Suggested use
Deep Navy	#17324D	Headings, navigation and professional backgrounds
Launch Teal	#00A6A6	Links, highlights and supporting visual elements
Opportunity Gold	#F4B942	Calls to action and important notices
Sky Blue	#4DA3FF	Secondary accents and information
Warm White	#F7F9FC	Open backgrounds and visual space
Charcoal	#263238	Body text and neutral elements

Typography and visual direction

Recommended typography is a modern sans-serif combination such as Montserrat or Poppins for headings and a highly legible font such as Source Sans, Lato or Noto Sans for body text. The logo may use symbols of forward movement, pathways, graduation, launch arrows or progression. Visuals should remain simple, recognisable and uncluttered.

Voice and messaging

- Use clear, practical and encouraging language.
- Avoid unrealistic employment promises.
- Explain career terminology where necessary.
- Respect different study fields, backgrounds and career goals.
- Remind students that EduLaunch supports preparation but does not guarantee employment.

Marketing and Growth Strategy

EduLaunch may build awareness through campus orientation activities, email campaigns, student portals, career fairs, social-media content, classroom announcements, employer presentations, alumni stories and student ambassadors. Launch services at selected pilot campuses. Gather feedback from students, advisers and employers. Expand standard resources and campus support activities. Build a wider employer and alumni network. Introduce specialised workshops, mentoring and industry communities. Use participation information to improve services over time.

Stakeholders and Team

Stakeholder or role	Contribution
Programme Director	Provides strategic leadership and institutional oversight.
Career Services Manager	Coordinates services, staff, campus activities and reporting.
Career Adviser	Provides consultations, career guidance and application support.
Employer Relations Officer	Builds employer partnerships and coordinates recruitment activities.
Campus Coordinator	Manages EduLaunch activities at a participating campus.
Content Administrator	Maintains resources, announcements and opportunity information.

Student Ambassador	Promotes EduLaunch and helps students access suitable support.
Employers, alumni and industry partners	Provide opportunities, insight, mentoring and event participation.

Closing Statement

EduLaunch exists to help students move from academic preparation to professional participation. It brings together career guidance, employability development, workplace opportunities and employer engagement under one clear identity. Through accessible support and collaborative partnerships, EduLaunch aims to turn student potential into confident professional progress.

Important

This company profile is a source of background information. Students must follow the specific instructions, scope and evidence requirements stated in the assessment they are completing.